

Perfection in Timber Getting better every day: Comanesti Factory

The largest blockboard factory in the world

Part of the Schweighofer Group since 2010, Holzindustrie Schweighofer Baco is located in Comanesti, Romania, in a region with history and tradition in woodworking. After successive investments, the plant almost doubled its workforce and tripled its production capacity by the end of 2014.

The factory processes softwood timber that could not be put to superior use and turns it into block-boards and shuttering panels, excellent materials for the furniture industry, interior design and constructions. The company is European market leader on these segments and its high-quality products are appreciated in more than 40 countries on 5 continents.

"Comanesti always had a great tradition of wood processing and we are proud to continue it with our 750 employees, best in the business. With their help, our Comanesti factory is now the world's biggest block-board plant in a single location. The factory's products are very sought for on external markets and are being exported in more than 50 countries"
